As a volunteer for the American Cancer Society (ACS), Stephen has helped raised over $60,000 to fight cancer. His service, however, goes well beyond that of simple fund-raising. Stephen has assisted in advocacy efforts across the state, along with bringing the presence of the ACS to new communities. Since he began his work with ACS six years ago, Stephen has been a planning committee member for three different Relay For Life events. Relay For Life is the signature event of ACS that helps raise funds for cancer research, advocacy, education, and patient services. Currently, he is the co-chairperson of a new Relay For Life event in his hometown of Clark, NJ. What makes his accomplishments remarkable is that he is just twenty years old. Stephen is also a full-time college student who will graduate in May 2008 with a bachelor's degree, which he will complete in just three years with a 3.5+ GPA.
